

Without proper regulation of broadband, competition, as we know it, will cease to exist. Please do not let the recently re-formed "Bell Derivatives" monopoly control the broadband market. Easy, affordable, access to broadband is essential to American innovation. Without innovation we might as well ship all of the America's intellectual prosperity potential off-shore. If it can't be done here, it will be done elsewhere.